mail2web.com® introduces Microsoft® Exchange and Worldwide Internet Dial and Wireless services

Toronto, Ontario --- January 6, 2005

mail2web.com, a world leading and free web-based email application, and registered trademark of global service provider SoftCom Technology Consulting Inc., announced today the introduction of a series of new online services to enhance their growing portfolio. Services launched include; Personal and Business Microsoft Exchange hosted email, Global Internet dial and wireless access services in more than 170 countries and a free web-based Chat service that allows users to consolidate other chat services (MSN, Yahoo, AOL and ICQ) into one account.

“For 8 years our flagship product, mail2web.com, has allowed users to pick up their email anywhere with any device,” said Tony Yustein, CEO of SoftCom Technology Consulting Inc. “Using the same philosophy, our new product suite provides businesses and individuals access to premium business tools with the same level of broad access that today’s mobile user has come to expect.”

Microsoft Exchange 2003 was selected as a premium and highly secure platform to provide both Personal and Business email services that enable full calendar, tasks and address book functionality. Starting from USD$1.99/month, mail2web.com offers a Personal Exchange service (based on the @mail2web.net email address) that provides access via the Microsoft Outlook® Web client (OWA), and allows access via any POP3 or IMAP4 client. Secure access is provided through SSL.

For Business users, mail2web.com offers two service plans depending on their needs: The Associate and Professional plans support custom domain names, but are differentiated by the ability to fully utilize the Microsoft Outlook® 2003 client-side application. The Professional Plan provides full Outlook 2003 access, while the Associate Plan only provides POP3, IMAP and OWA access. The mail2web.com Business Exchange service starts from USD$5.95/month.

Mobile users have come to expect and depend on the reliability and performance of mail2web.com regardless of the method they use to access the service. To make it easier for mobile users, mail2web.com has introduced a Global ISP service in more than 170 countries (more than 50,000 Points-of-Presence) that provides both dial-up and wireless access. The service can be purchased two ways – prepaid or through a monthly subscription – with rates starting at USD$3.95/month.

Another new feature at mail2web.com is the introduction of a free, universal chat service based on the Jabber protocol that enables users of other popular chat services (MSN, Yahoo, AOL and ICQ) to consolidate all of these accounts into one account, accessible via a fully functional web-based client, or other Jabber protocol client-side software.
