mail2web.com Extends Hosted Application Portfolio with Windows® Sharepoint™ Services

Toronto, Ontario --- June 6, 2005

mail2web.com, a world leading and free web-based email application, and registered trademark of global service provider SoftCom Technology Consulting Inc., announced today the availability of Windows® Sharepoint™ Services. In conjunction with Microsoft® Exchange, this release now allows businesses to outsource a complete messaging and collaboration solution.

“Businesses are beginning to understand the many benefits of outsourced, Hosted Applications. Cost reductions, shorter development time and operational considerations are just a few,” said Tony Yustein, CEO of SoftCom Technology Consulting Inc. “Windows Sharepoint Services is one particular application now available through mail2web.com that meets all these criteria while providing an essential service to businesses.”

Windows® Sharepoint™ Services is designed for businesses that need to store, share and collaborate on different documents and files. Through a password protected website or intranet, users can access corporate files, documents or images all in a secure, private environment. An unlimited number of sub-websites allow a subscriber to create unique areas for specific departments and assign a number of different access levels so that some information can be made public while other sensitive information remains private.

“This release of Windows Sharepoint Services provides an enormous amount of functionality right out of the box,” said Tony Yustein. “Used with Microsoft Exchange, this product provides an integrated collaboration and work flow environment that in the past would only have been possible through a much more expensive and complex, dedicated solution.”

Windows® Sharepoint™ Services requires no programming and can be customized using Microsoft® FrontPage™ 2003 or directly through the application itself. An administrator can select from a variety of layout templates and/or even add Web Parts – freely available modules that provide canned functionality like RSS (Really Simple Syndication) feeds, search functionality or even Windows® Sharepoint™ training seminars to reduce the learning curve for new users.

For only USD$19.95 a month with no setup fee, subscribers can create an unlimited amount of users and create an unlimited number of sub-websites for specific departments or groups. mail2web.com allows subscribers to choose the domain of their choice for their Windows® Sharepoint™ site and includes SSL to ensure all data is encrypted and remains private.
